Safety Information

SAFETY FIRST

- The session will take place even if the weather is poor. However, if the weather conditions are adverse and risk cannot be minimised, then delivery may need to be rescheduled.
- Our team facilitate the session delivery & ensure the safety of our animals. However, children attending the session remain the teaching staff/support workers in attendance to the session. Please ensure you provide adequate supervision and that you reinforce the information we provide during the safety briefing at the start of each session to students.
- Please ensure any children with allergies to animals take appropriate precautions prior to attending the session.
- Animal based activities can lead to injury. Regardless of how desensitized and experienced our team of therapy animals are, they can still act unpredictably if fearful or overwhelmed. Participant schools/organisations agree to follow all instructions given to reduce risk to everyone involved (human & animal). We, as an organisation, accept no liability for incidents, accidents or injuries sustained by anyone in attendance to the session, unless negligence can be proven.
- Photos may be taken during the session for social media purposes - a consent form will need to be completed prior to session delivery so that we are aware of any children for which photo consent is/is not given.
- All children MUST wear appropriate footwear (wellies/walking boots) to prevent slip, trips and falls and provide protection in the event of an animal stepping on a participant. We also advise that no jewellery be worn. that arms are covered to the elbows and no shorts or 3/4 length trousers are worn. Long hair should be tied back.
- The session will follow a specific plan, with timings provided. We will need access to the site to settle our animals prior to the session commencement and ask that children aren't brought over to meet the animals outside the scheduled delivery times.
